DRIVE MY CAR

Opposite page: Emma Ketteringham (88), Charlotte Finigan (88), Nicole Halverson (88), are the epitomes of the easy senior life.

1. Amy Price (88). When the caf food is not enough, many people turn to other means of satisfying their hunger. 2. Stephanie Cohen (88) isn't driving anywhere, yet.

3. Mr. Plott and his Shakespeare in Production class move the old wrestling mat. What would Freud say? 4. Carolyn Gracey (88), Andrew Craig (90), and Sam Costello (88) can't drive this car - but they would like to.

1. Amy Darsch (88) and Denise McDonald (88). Play fair - even if you do not win, you will be a winner in the end. 2. Rick Vadgama (89) is drafting plans for his junior year. 3. Tina Favaloro (88). $d = v \cdot t + \frac{1}{2} a \cdot t^2$. Where will I go with this formula?

Opposite page: Andrew Fisch (89) and Aaron Bloomenthal (89). From the Salem Witch Trials of The Crucible to the music of Sting, our attitudes are always on the move.

EXPAND YOUR HORIZONS

1. Bridey Maxwell (88) - The library is, among other things, a resource center - also a social gathering place, a hiding place, home to many Russian icons . . . what next? It's one of the places to go at L-S. 2. Alex Underwood (88) - poised for the next quantum leap in Physics.

WORKING OUR WAY UP

1 Jon Fallon (90): measure twice, cut once. The wood shop provides students the opportunity to check out the angles and create aesthetic realities. 2. Kathy Linden (88): conversant in many languages, purveyor of many worlds - computer technology. 3. Mike Abrams (91) applies the heat in Unified Science; semester one of four. Chemistry and Biology will be behind him at the finish.

Changing Faces Facing Changes

1. Laurie Armstrong (88). Autumnal rites - the front of school - sunshine - study - sigh - stuck. 2. Laurie Felsing (91) and Laurel Pippin (91) participating in one of the most dreaded rituals of high school - gym class. 3. Jon Shaw (89). Rituals of school include going nowhere fast - just checking out the activity coming and going . . .

1. Emily Fisher (88) reads her yearbook. Last year's DYADs were late - another excuse for a courtyard "bash." The signing party was a big draw for all the kids and faculty who were smart enough to order early; we sold out! 2. Melony Graham (88) awlirl at rest. This woman can dance! At the Mark Avila Talent Show last spring she lead one of several exciting dance numbers - and this year???

Togetherness In Action

1. Derek Kalchbrenner (88), Les Klein (66), and Andrew McMorow (88): one "cute" and two curly creative fanatics take a break after agonizing acutely over the creative process. 2. Lia Holden (89) and Astrid Delori (89). Two Lincolniters in the quiet courtyard outside West House - when will the snow fly . . . are you ready, Lia?

For sophomores Nicole Chester, Damar Rankin, Nicole Wilson, and Tarsha Ray, it's the "homing instinct" . . . with just a few minutes before homeroom, catching up on the first and second block gossip is the happenin' thing.

Erica Waardenberg (89), Jessica Borg (89), Tara Olisczasck (89) and John Bohne (88) . . . this kind of gathering in the library is tough to get away with. There is a constant issue of the appropriateness of social time in these "hallowed halls."

Brian Hannan (90) and Jason Joy (90) . . . experimenting with the caf food - a sacred act among friends.

Megan Day (90), Wendy Ireland (90) and Jessica Dusenbury (90) spending a free moment to catch the last warm weather. The architecture of L-S is very California . . . unfortunately the weather in New England doesn't permit outside gatherings for any but the most hearty and of course, smokers . . . not after January this year!

CHILLING

Opposite page: Deneen Howell (88) and the infamous Hawaiian reef walkers make even treacherous terrain traversible.

This page: 1. Dawn Howes (90). When the library gets too hot, she heads to her locker to cool off. 2. Bill Buckley (89) surrenders like the Hurricanes did to Penn State in the 1987 Fiesta Bowl. 3. Michelle Francis (89). Notes and books galore greet you when you open a L-S locker.

The End of The Road

Jilvonya Burton (91) really is going places - not many frosh get personal transportation . . . stuck on the bus for a while; o.k., Jilvonya, what's the secret?

Ole Craig (88) a man's car is his castle . . . great pride taken in this well-fortified model.

PLACES

Going places. Another classic L-S yearbook theme. What, pray tell, is the secret hidden meaning behind this simple phrase? Backwards, it's secalp going, which means absolutely nothing, so the Led Zeppelin Satanic-Lyrics-If-You-Play-It-Backwards theory is not valid in this case. That wall concept last year was bad enough, but now this Actually, it's quite simple. It's not even abstract, as most DYAD themes are. It is, in fact, just a nifty little phrase that sums up L-S nicely. People going places. Get it? It would make my job much easier. Oh, alright. Here goes . . .

"On The Road Again." Remember that song? Big hit for Willie Nelson. Willie expressed his love for the road and the various people he met on the road. Worked pretty well for him; he's rich now. What does that have to do with anything? Well, what was Willie doing? He was . . . going places! Going places on the road. Well, L-S students are going places in life. Astounding, isn't it? OK, maybe not. L-S students go to school. They go out to lunch. They go on field trips. They go on dates. They go nuts. Well, some do. And, usually, they are going to college. L-S is an awful lot like a college, so it really isn't a colossal change in lifestyle, but it is the general point of the four years spent here. You don't have to go to college, of course. You could go to work and make big bucks. Or small bucks; everyone has to start somewhere. To make what could be a long story short, no one stays around here very long. They go.

An L-S education isn't complete without going somewhere. The freedom to go, rare among high schools, is an integral part of L-S. You can go out to lunch, as mentioned before. You can go out to catch a plane to Newark. You can go out and mow the lawn. You can go out in search of Wally and The Beav. Whoops. Looks like things are getting a little out of hand. Nevertheless, going is important. If you don't go, you will never see anything other than that which you see everyday. That leads inevitably to a really boring life. Trust me on that one.

To go or not to go; that is the question. Of course, it must be said that going isn't everything. Going must be practiced in moderation. In other words, don't skip sophomore year to go out to lunch. Attend at least some classes. Don't go steal plutonium; the government frowns upon that. Try it and you'll wind up going to Sing Sing. Or maybe Alcatraz. Don't go breaking my heart. (I couldn't if I tried.) Don't quote Elton John songs in yearbook introductions. Don't go live out a "Moonlighting" episode. Trust me on that one, too. In brief, don't go out and do something stupid that you'll regret later.

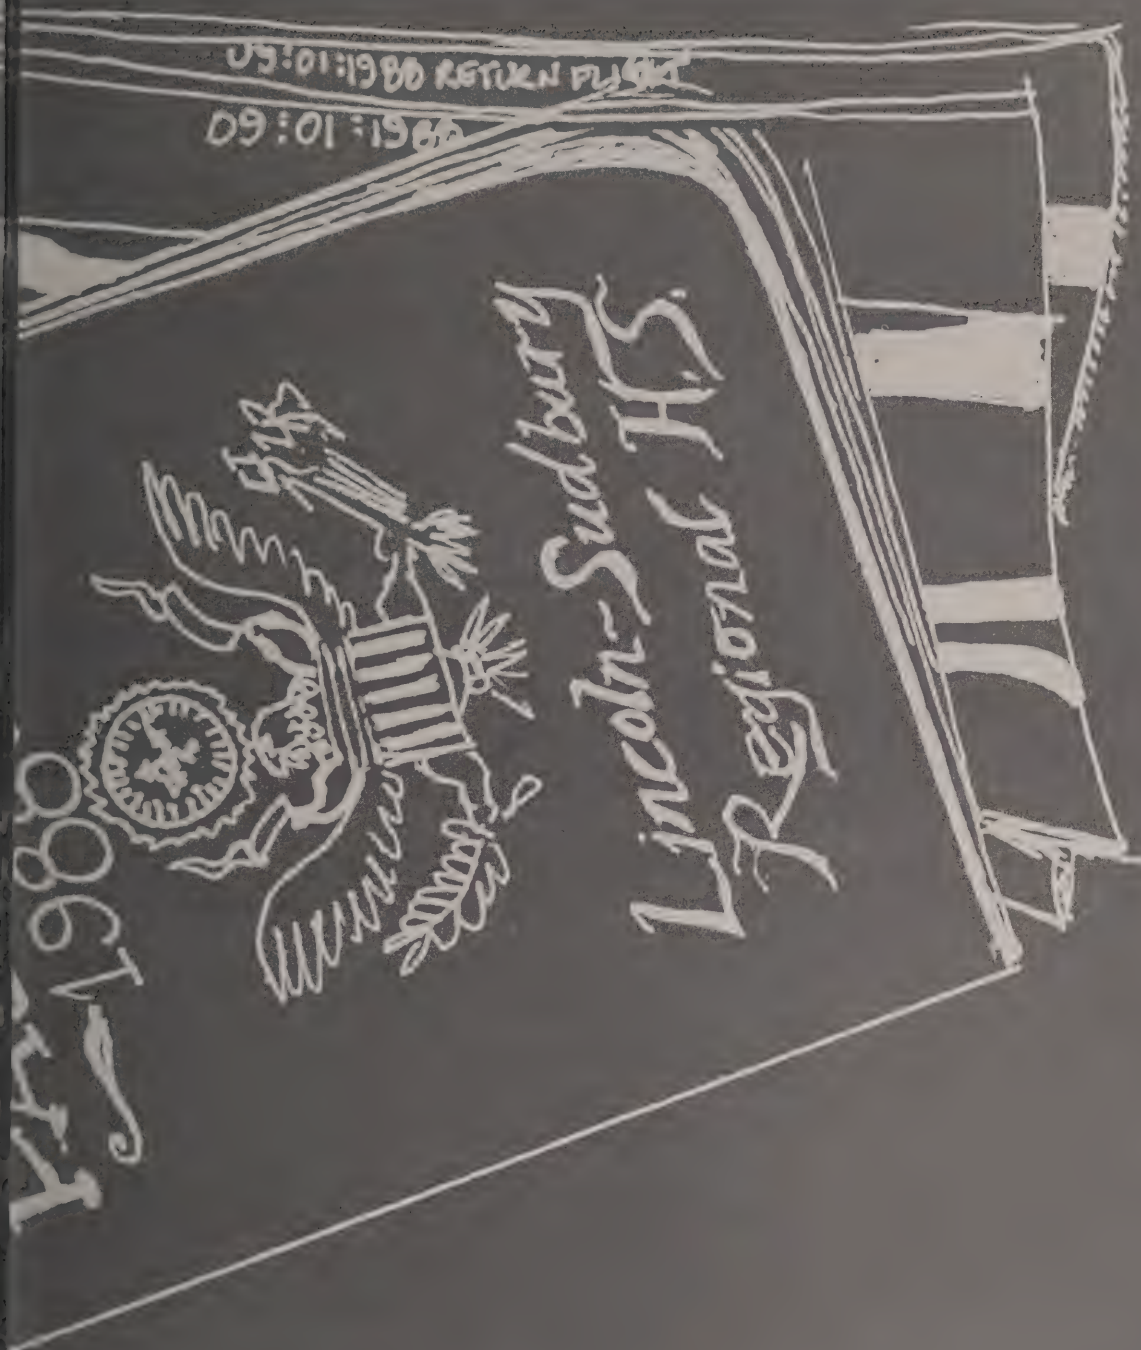

Going is natural. Going is fun. Going is best when it's one-on-one. Not everybody does it, but everybody should. Oh yeah. Wake me up before you go-go, also. Better end this before it gets really out of hand. Go up to a friend today and ask, "Have you gone?" When they stop looking at you funny, show them this. Then go somewhere together. Who knows? You may wind up in a "Moonlighting" episode. The point is, you've gone. The seniors will be gone soon; gone to bigger and better things. The only things that stay are the walls, the carpets, and the Twinkies. Oh, yes. And those stupid whiteboards. Everything else is going. Going places.

Hopefully, you get it now. A fun theme, isn't it? Gets you thinking. Welcome to the DYAD. I think you're going to enjoy it.

-Dave Ryan

SENIOR

Seniors are really going places. Like you needed me to tell you that. Of course they're going places; they're going to college, you goof! Well, most of them, anyway. The rest are off to work, to play, or to do a little of both. Anyhow, they aren't going to L-S anymore. Most are quite happy and look forward to the challenges the future holds. Others just wonder who their roommate will be, and whether he or she will be able to get tickets to the next Pink Floyd tour. In retrospect, it seems like a pretty long ride.

Senior year involves a lot of comings and goings. "Going-to-visit-the-colleges-of-your-choice" comes to mind. Going to take the dreaded Achievement tests, too. There are also the brief spins to Sudbury Pizza for lunch, to anyplace that sells ice cream in the spring, and to nowhere in particular, just for the heck of it. There is an overwhelming urge to not go to class, known in the profession as Senioritis. (Not to be confused with halitosis, or bad breath, which comes after the spins to eat pizza.) Just going anywhere turns on most seniors. And why not? After all, they are seniors.

To those about to graduate and go on to greener pastures, we salute you. We also put all your pictures in here. Well, at least the ones we got. Hope you remembered to smile. Vaya con Dios, Class of '88.

 When we begged Mommy and Daddy for rides
 When we thought we had to hand in papers on time
 When we got parking tickets—after Halloween
 When we hung at Friendly's
 When there were empty spaces in the parking lot
 The PROM — MIAA
 When teachers wrote on chalk boards
 When we laughed at people who got pulled over for speeding
 When Cherry Cokes were made with Alcohol.
 The PIG.
 When we didn't use Cliff Notes.
 When we got that postcard from the obscure college, threw it away and months later wished we still had it.
 When we were in the superbowl
 When Newton South lost
 When we rode to and from school on a BUS
 When homeroom was just a formality
 The food fights and cleaning them up

Joe Ward; This is rare, the BUS? Mellow yellow, and on time.

... The Way We Were?

Podunk College was where my brother went. Of course, I had to at least consider it when my time came. I really wasn't fascinated by the prospect of four glamour-filled years in Podunk, OR, but consideration was necessary. It was written into the family by-laws somewhere. Right next to "close the refrigerator door when through". So when the little white envelope from the Podunk Office of Admissions and Discount Furniture arrived, (they didn't waste good floor space out there in Podunk), I mechanically sent the response postcard back.

Unfortunately, they noticed my little postcard. All of a sudden, I was getting mail. Lots of mail. Forms, booklets, pamphlets, coloring books, the works. All inviting me to spend some time investigating the wonders of Podunk. I read through all the rigamarole. I felt it was only fair, considering the postage spent on sending it to me. Podunk turned out to be the only college to mention "fully-stocked game rooms and fabulous babes." Sure beat the typical "we have many fine programs here at College X." A visit seemed to be a logical next step.

The visit was, well, unusual. First of all, I had to take a bus to Oregon. No airline flew there. I guess there isn't enough there to justify a flight or two. Anyhow, I arrived on campus and met my brother, Phil. Phil was wearing a leisure suit. Upon further examination, I found that everyone on campus wore a leisure suit.

"Should be Tacky U.," I said to no one in particular.

The Admissions Office/Furniture Showroom turned out to be a converted MacDonald's restaurant located next to Podunk's only stop light. I entered, with Phil, and met my interviewer. His name was Wayne. He was a greasy little guy with slicked back hair and all the class of a weasel. Not what I expected in a college admissions office.

"Can I interest you in this dinette set?" he asked me.

"Uh, I'm Steve. I'm supposed to have an interview today . . ."

"Oh, yeah. You." What a friendly school this was. "Well, what are your extracurricular activities?" He took about five minutes to spit out the word "extracurricular"

"Uh, sports, yearbook, newspaper,"

"Yeah, fine. How about sales? Any sales? How about furniture sales? Say, do you need a new recliner?"

Phil showed me around campus. The "well-stocked game room" turned out to be an old "Space Invaders" game next to a ping-pong table. The "fabulous babes" were pictures of Marilyn Monroe and Phoebe Cates tacked up on a bulletin board. They didn't have any dorms. They had mobile homes neatly arrayed in a parking lot. The classrooms were even worse. Boxcars. Astonishingly, Podunk did have a multi-million dollar athletics center. It was beautiful - lots of glass and a pool and everything. Unfortunately, no one at Podunk played any sports, so it was rented out to the local dairy farm so the cows could have a place to swim. The resultant smell tended to discourage anyone from picking up a sport. Having seen all of Podunk, I got on the bus and went home. Total elapsed time - forty-five minutes on campus.

At home, I was to ashamed to tell Dad that I hated the place. After all, he had liked it when he visited before Phil went. I looked over the application. No problemo, I thought to myself. The most probing questions were, "Can you speak a language?" and "If you could be any fruit in the world, would it be an orange?" The essay was "Write something in English." I spend a good fifteen minutes on it, and sent it off. My essay plagiarized, however - I copied Thursday night's schedule from TV Guide. I did add some plot details myself, though.

Oh, by the way, I got in. I even wound up going. Podunk isn't that bad, after all. You know, leisure suits really fit well, and cows don't smell that bad . . .

Political Poll

Undecided	39	26%	Republicans	27	18	Democrats	83	55%
Bono	1	.6%
	Bush	14	9%	Babbitt	2	1%
	Dole	6	4%	Dukakis	45	30%
	du Pont	3	2%	Gephardt	1	.6%
	Haig	2	1%	Gore	1	.6%
	Kemp	1	.6%	Hart	7	5%
	Robertson	1	.6%	Jackson	14	9%
				Simon	13	9%

We surveyed 150 seniors at L-S, through their home rooms, to discern the political standing of the class. As expected, Michael Dukakis, the governor of our state, won a decisive victory. The undecided factor held second place. The majority of those polled voted with the Democratic Party. Bush lead the Republicans with the same number of votes as Jackson, the Democratic runner-up. One must also note that Gephardt, Gore, Kemp, and Robertson tied with Bono for last place. Bono for president?

The Road Not Taken

Two Roads Diverged In A Yellow Wood,
And Sorry I Could Not Travel Both
And Be One Traveler, Long I Stood
And Looked Down One As Far As I Could
To Where It Bent In The Undergrowth;

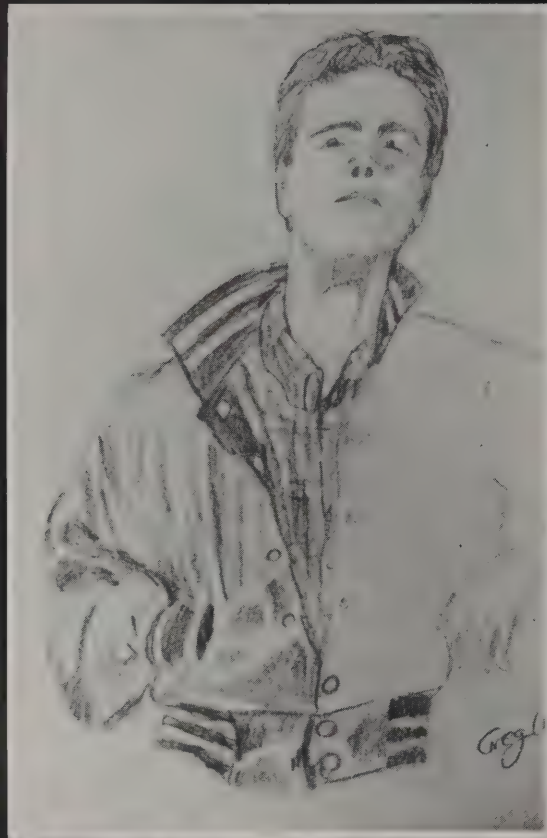

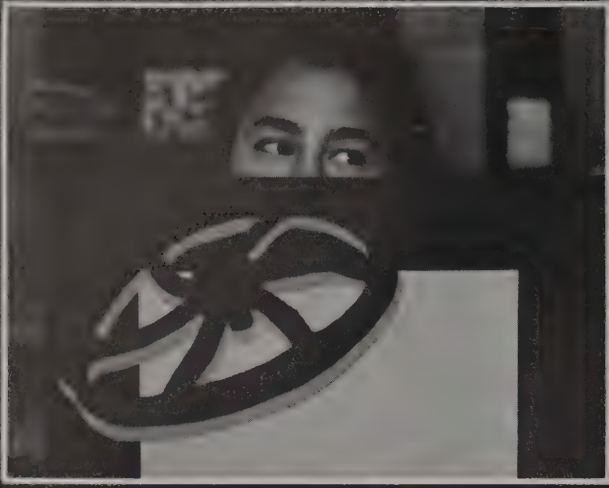

Then Took The Other, As Just As Fair,
And Having Perhaps The Better Claim,
Because It Was Grassy And Wanted Wear;
Though As For The Passing There
Had Worn Them Really About The Same,

And Both That Morning Equally Lay
In Leaves No Step Had trodden Black.
Oh, I Kept The First For Another Day!
Yet Knowing How Way Leads On To Way,
I doubted If I Should Ever Come Back.

I Shall Be Telling This With A Sigh
Somewhere Ages And Ages Hence:
Two Roads Diverged In A Wood, And I-
I Took The One Less Traveled By,
And That Has Made All The Difference.

Robert Frost

UNIONBRO

Juniors are on the way up, but not quite there yet. They are - well, going to make it sooner or later. Going to be seniors, next year. Going to be sorry they didn't take keyboarding as a freshman. Going to be running the school (A scary thought - no, just kidding . . .) Going to have fun. But first, they have to slug through junior year. Not an enviable task, to say the least.

Junior year involves the most work and the least rest. At the outset, you can see that it is going to be difficult. Go fill out those SAT applications! Gonna get that license any day now . . . Go tell your housemaster. Go get this permission slip signed. Go to work. Go to bed (finally!) Go ask Suzie to the prom. Go nuts when she says no. Go to those college conferences. Go plan your future, kiddo. Go tell it on the mountain (if spiritually inclined, that is.) Just go do it, and get it over with.

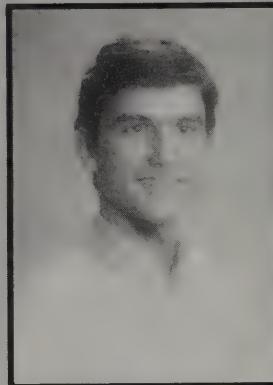

That just about summarizes junior year - getting it over with. Nobody really enjoys it as much as the other three years, but everyone has to endure it. Cheer up, folks . . . it's over. Ladies and gentlemen, the Class of '89 . . .

SOPHOMORES

Sophomores are going to have fun. The sophomore mentality is, "We were freshpersons, now we're not, so let's have some fun before we have to be juniors." Go, go, go. Everyone in this school is going, with the exception of sophs. You don't have to frantically scour the hallways for hidden rooms, like froshtypes, since you know the secrets of L-5's floor plan. You don't have to take CEEB tests; that's for juniors. Unless you want to - in that case, there's always the biology achievement. Or the PSAT. And, the ever-present History Competency Test. You can't just take off for MacDonald's - no car. Unless you find a handy licensed junior or senior willing to drive. No severe worries about colleges - yet. You just sit back and watch the frazzled seniors yell, "Did you get in?? Did you get in??". Of course, you do have to take Outdoor Pursuits and Fitness Fundamentals, but that's a small price to pay for the last year of relaxation in the public schools. So sit back, grab a cold soda and a bag of chips, and peruse the Class of '90.

TEACHER COMMENTS:

LINCOLN-SUDBURY REGIONAL HIGH SCHOOL

Freshmen... Actually freshboys and freshgirls. You're just going to have to relax. You stand at the brink of unforeseen potential and... oh, heck. Enough of that. Your typical fresh tends to have unfounded fears about going to L-S. Rumors of "freshman initiation" run rampant through the halls of Curtis and Brooks. Well, it's not true. Freshkids are treated based on who they are, not on what year they are. I have had several fresh friends every year I've gone to L-S. (Especially, of course, freshman year.) As far as the oft-heard claim that all freshpeople are obnoxious - the worst offenders are the sophomores. They also tend to be the major cause of annoyance to freshtypes, since they have no one else to look down upon. Just stay cool, enjoy the ride, and there won't be any problems.

Going to class can sometimes be a problem, since you have little to no idea where room 106 is. (Home-Ec wing, above the businessrooms, you know? Okay, you go down this hall...) And then there is the always-mystifying process of Scheduling. At least the administration is trying to simplify that. But, as a freshbeing, you are undergoing whole new experiences. You have real teams and activities to join. You have new teachers to meet and new subjects to learn. You get your very own mailbox. You are introduced to the concept of the cut slip. Also to the concept of the free. A fun ride, although sometimes a trying one. And then, when you're through, you're a sophomore! What could be better? Don't answer that... Oh, yeah. Here's the Class of '91.

THE YEAR IN REVIEW

Nineteen eighty-seven was, if nothing else, quite eventful. It had it all: scandal, tragedy, corruption, achievement.

The next-to-last year of the Reagan presidency was marred by revelations concerning the sale of arms to Iran in exchange for the release of hostages. Some of the profits from the sales were illegally diverted to the Contra rebels in Nicaragua. The star of this muddled affair was Marine Lt. Colonel Oliver North, a charismatic figure who captivated American television audiences for days during Senate hearings on the scandal. President Reagan alternately accepted blame for the sales and denied knowledge of them. John Poindexter, Robert McFarlane, and Richard Secord became household names. McFarlane attempted suicide. Fawn Hall, North's secretary, told tales of "shredding parties" in which countless documents were destroyed in an attempt to cover up the operation. The Senate investigation found fault with the president's network of advisors. Their advice: Reagan should keep in touch and should not delegate all his authority.

In October, the bubble burst for thousands of investors across the country. Following a record 100 + point drop on Friday, October 16, the Dow Jones average plummeted 508 points on October 19, immediately nicknamed "Black Monday." An estimated $500 billion on paper was lost that day.

In the political arena, Federal Judge Robert Bork was nominated by President Reagan to replace retiring Associate Justice Lewis Powell. Bork, a conservative, was grilled in the Senate confirmation hearings. Charges of racism and lack of respect for constitutional rights led to his downfall. He was soundly rejected. The man Reagan found to replace Bork was Douglas Ginsburg, who withdrew his name from consideration after it was revealed that he had smoked marijuana. Judge Anthony Kennedy, a compromise appointee, seems to be headed for a confirmation.

In the scandal department, the parade was lead by TV evangelists Jim and Tammy Bakker, heads of the PTL organization. Their empire, which included a religious amusement park, crumbled when allegations of sexual improprieties by Jim with Jessica Hahn, a church secretary, surfaced. Tales of payoffs, outlandish luxuries (including an air-conditioned doghouse), and huge salaries soon followed. In the political world, Gary Hart's fling with model Donna Rice ended his presidential campaign in May - but not for long. In September, he apparently changed his mind, reentering the race.

Some other newbits from 1987: - Jessica McClure, age 18 months, fell down a well in Midland, Texas. She survived two and a half days underground while feverish efforts were made to rescue her. Fortunately, she suffered remarkably little physical damage and is healthy today.

- A high-rise building in Bridgeport, Connecticut collapsed, killing 28 construction workers. The collapse was blamed on safety violations by the building's owners during its construction.

- Vincent Van Gogh's painting entitled "Sunflowers" sold for $39.9 million, a record that was eclipsed when his painting "Irises" sold for $53.9 million. Van Gogh sold one painting during his lifetime.

- The all-male Rotary Clubs of America were ordered by a Federal judge to admit women.

- The Golden Gate Bridge and Disney's "Snow White" both celebrated their 50th anniversaries.

- The "Baby M" case took custody of said baby away from surrogate mother Mary Beth Whitehead and gave it to her real father, William Stern, and his wife, Elizabeth.

- Ronald Reagan and Mikhail Gorbachev signed a treaty banning medium-range nuclear missiles.

- On August 16, a New Age began; an era of peace and love, due to a Harmonic Convergence of planets and other heavenly bodies. At least, that's what some say . . .

In sports, the man of the year was Canada's Ben Johnson. Johnson demolished the world record in the 100M dash at World Track + Field Championships, held in Rome in August. He also broke the record in the 60M dash indoors during the fall. The New York Giants won Super Bowl XXI, beating the Denver Broncos 38-20. In a thrilling January 2nd game, Penn State beat the University of Miami in the Fiesta Bowl to claim the national college championship. In college basketball, Indi-tina Navratilova won her eighth Wimbledon women's singles title, tying the career record, held by Helen Moody. In a surprise victory, Sugar Ray Leonard stripped the middleweight title from Marvelous Marvin Hagler after a five-year retirement period. Leonard dominated the early rounds of the fight, but Hagler fought well towards the end. The split decision was controversial, surrounded by cries of a possible fix, which were never substantiated. And, finally, skipper Dennis Conner of Stars and Stripes avenged his 1983 America's Cup defeat by crushing the Australian entry Kookaburra III in the waters off Fremantle, Australia.

The entertainment world suffered from a Fatal Attraction during 1987. The runaway hit of the year, "Fatal Attraction" starred Michael Douglas and Glenn Close in a thrilling tale of love and violence. Other hits included "Robocop", with Peter Weller as a futuristic crimefighter, "The Untouchables", Brian DePalma's version of the Elliot Ness story, starring Kevin Costner, Sean Connery, and Robert DeNiro, "Moonstruck", with Cher and Nicholas Cage in a lighthearted romantic comedy set in an Italian family, and "Broadcast News", the latest film from James Brooks (maker of "Terms of Endearment") that starred William Hurt, Albert Brooks, and newcomer Holly Hunter. "Ish-tar" was a major Hollywood flop, despite the presence of Dustin Hoffman and Warren Beatty. The music industry saw the return of Michael Jackson with his album "Bad", and the controversial success of George Michael's song "I Want Your Sex." Many thought the song inappropriate, considering the AIDS epidemic. The collegiate cult band R.E.M. had a top-10 album, "Document", and a successful American tour. Less successful were the Cars, whose album "Door to Door", although critically acclaimed, did not sell well. The year, however, belonged to the Irish band U2, whose album "The Joshua Tree" spawned single after single. Their world tour was a giant success, also. TV hits included the perennial favorite "The Cosby Show", the yuppie "dramady" "Thirtysomething," and the legal drama "LA Law."

The new year is half over now, but the memory of the past one lingers.

1987

ana beat Syracuse at the buzzer to win the NCAA tournament. The pro championship was won by the Los Angeles Lakers, who beat Boston's own Celtics in six games. The Edmonton Oilers, led by perennial all-star Wayne Gretzky, defeated the Philadelphia Flyers, led by Cup MVP Ron Hextall, to capture the Stanley Cup, taking the series to seven games for the first time in 16 years. The Minnesota Twins played poorly away from their home stadium, but still won the World Series, beating the St. Louis Cardinals in seven tough games. Twins pitcher and Series MVP Frank Viola had to miss his brother's wedding to pitch (and win) Game One. Pat Cash upset top-ranked Ivan Lendl to capture the men's singles crown at Wimbledon. Mar-

Four straws who stirred the drink in '87:

Top L- Judge Robert Bork, whose conservative bent caused his nomination to the Supreme Court to be rejected. Top R- Bork's follower in the Supreme Court Nomination Derby, Douglas Ginsburg, who withdrew his name from the consideration after admitting to drug use during his school days. L- Former TV evangelists Jim and Tammy Bakker, whose ministry collapsed under an avalanche of scandal. Above- Gary Hart, whose fling with a Miami model temporarily ended his presidential campaign and brought the morality issue to the forefront of the '87-'88 campaign.

R- Jessica McClure, the young Texas girl who fell down a well and survived. The nation held its breath as her rescue unfolded before its eyes. Below- The Democratic "Six-Pack": Michael Dukakis, Bruce Babbitt, Paul Simon, Richard Gephardt, Jesse Jackson, and Albert Gore. One of these men could be the next president.

R- The day the bubble burst. An astonished stockbroker watches as the market takes a record fall. One consequence - an unhappy client walked into a Miami brokerage firm and opened fire.

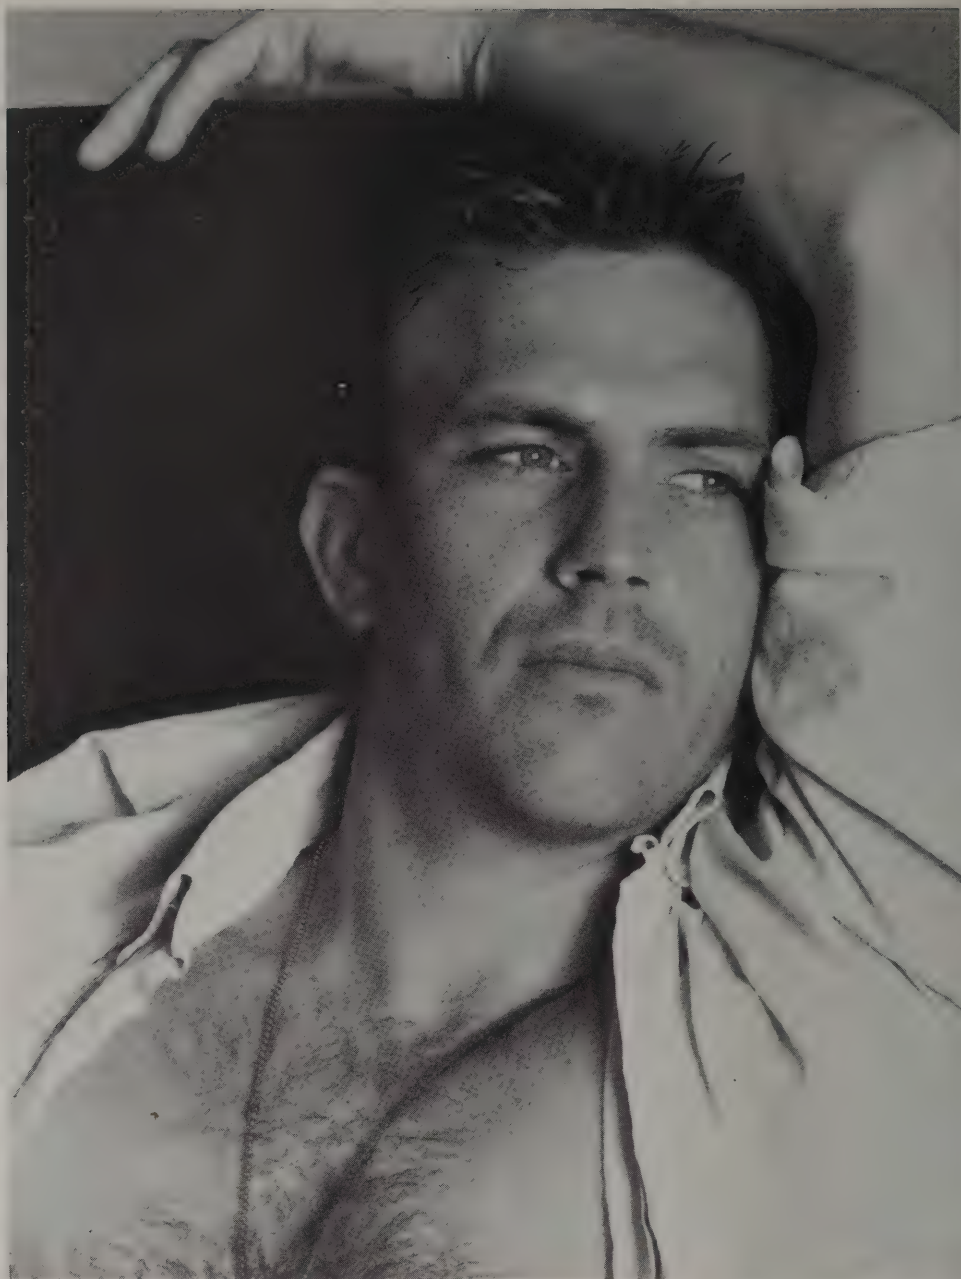

Above L- The most powerful men in the world. Mikhail Gorbachev, leader of the Soviet Union, and President Ronald Reagan met in Washington to sign a historic treaty eliminating medium-range ballistic missiles from Europe. Further negotiations continue in Geneva, Switzerland. Gorbachev's wife, Raisa, was the toast of Washington during the summit. Top- Dating back to World War One, these mines nevertheless caused severe damage to reflagged Kuwaiti tankers in the Persian Gulf. The greatest assemblage of naval might in recent history now patrols the gulf, made a combat zone by the continuing Iran-Iraq war. Above- Kim Dae-jung, opposition leader in South Korea. Violence and demonstrations have wracked Seoul in the year preceeding the 1988 Summer Games there. Attempts by North Korea to disrupt the Games are anticipated.

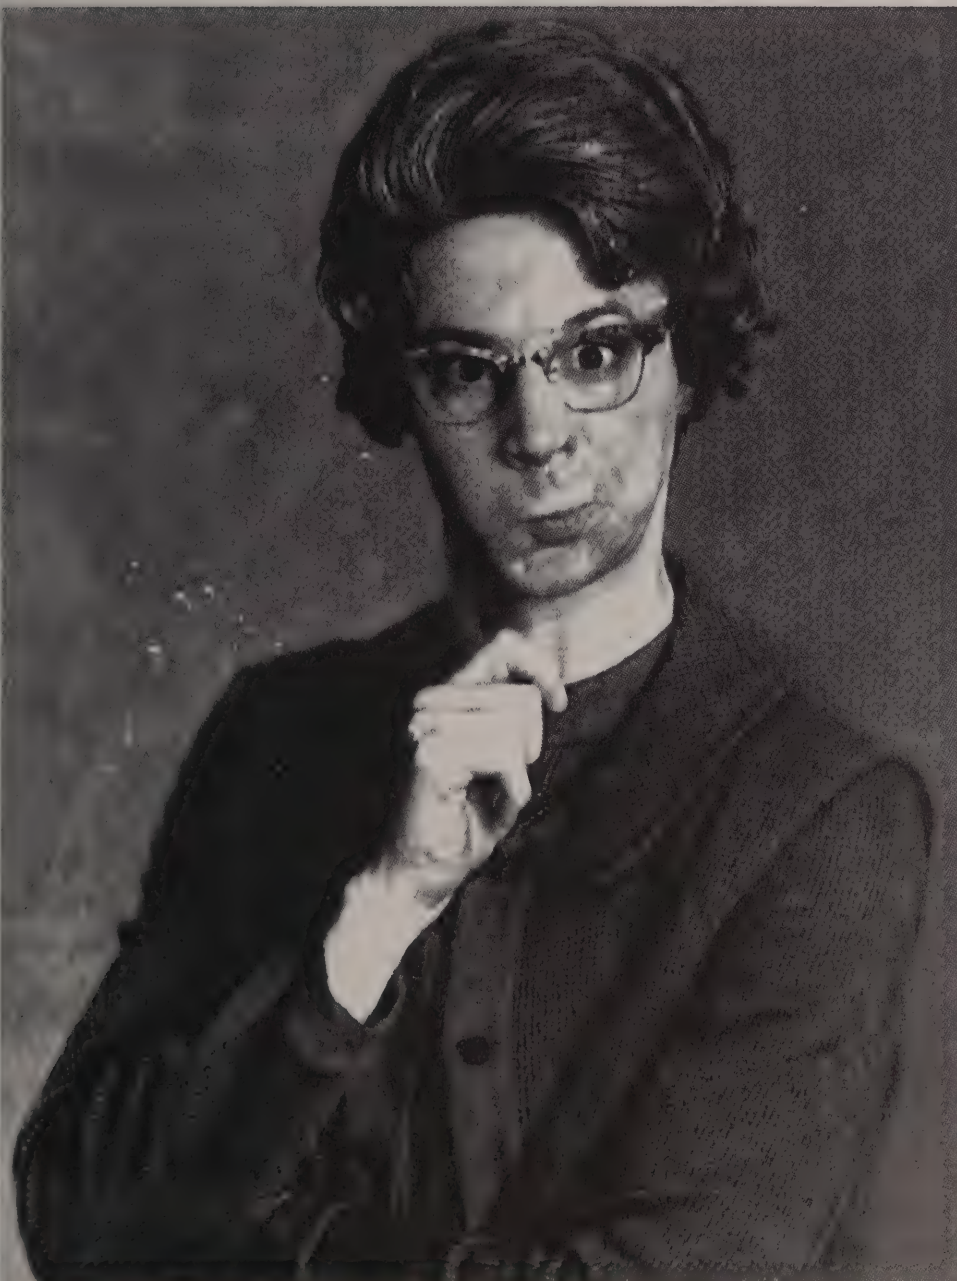

ONE BATTLE MANY FRONTS

WHO'S HOT

Top R- Kevin Costner captured the public's eye with his portrayal of gangbuster Elliot Ness in The Untouchables, then shot to stardom in the smash hit thriller No Way Out. Above- Charlie Sheen, the son of Martin, starred in two of the biggest films of the year: Wall Street and Platoon. Both were directed by Oliver Stone, and both, especially Platoon. Spuds MacKenzie and wife. Spuds, really a female Staffordshire terrier, was the "star" of the 1987 Budweiser advertising campaign. Many criticized the ads, saying that they reinforced a casual attitude towards drinking.

Top L- Patrick Swazye danced his way into the hearts of women everywhere in the surprise hit Dirty Dancing. The movie featured a 60's soundtrack, lots of dancing, and performances by Swazye and Jennifer Grey, daughter of singer/actor Joel Grey. Above- The queen of the shredding machine, Fawn Hall. As Oliver North's secretary, she helped to shred hundreds of documents relating to the Iran-Contra scandal. When she appeared before the congressional investigators, the TV ratings shot up. L- Dana Carvey brought his peculiar comic genius to Saturday Night Live and made the "Church Lady" a national celebrity. "Well, isn't that special!" joined a growing list of SNL buzzphrases. Carvey also impersonates Robin Leach to perfection. Below- Danny DeVito followed up success in Taxi and Ruthless People with his directoral debut in Throw Momma From The Train. He also starred in the hit comedy with Billy Crystal.

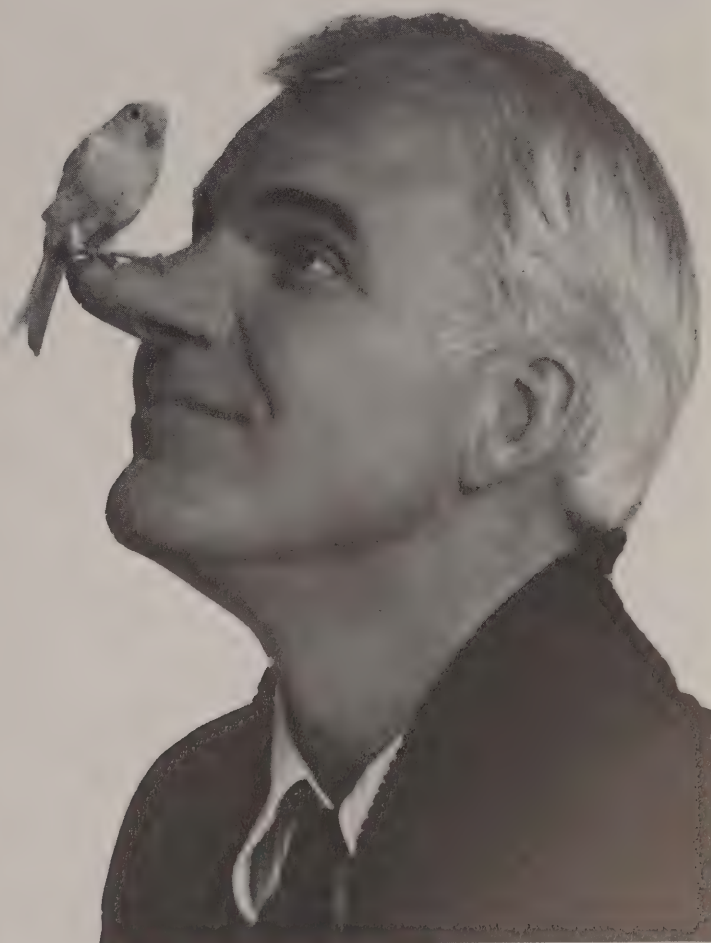

Top- Corbin Bernson, Harry Hamlin, and Jimmy Smits of LA Law. The show, from the makers of Hill Street Blues, was one of the biggest new shows of the year. Hamlin was selected by People magazine as the "Sexiest Man Alive", a title formerly held by Mel Gibson and Mark Harmon, among others. Top R- Peter Weller as the title character in this summer's big hit film Robocop. Weller's first starring role was in the cult classic Buckaroo Banzai. R- Pee-Wee in his Playhouse. Pee-Wee's Playhouse, a Saturday morning show for kids, turned out to be just as popular with adults. Pee-Wee, whose real name is Paul Reubens, also had a prime-time special. Above- George Michael followed success with the group Wham with a solo album, "Faith". His controversial hit song, "I Want Your Sex", was banned on some radio stations.

MORE HOT

Top L- Magnum and the Chairman. Tom Selleck and Frank Sinatra appeared together on an episode of Magnum P.I. A possible TV career for Ol' Blue Eyes? Who knows? Below- Steve Martin and friend. That's not his real nose; he played the beaked hero in Roxanne, an update of the Cyrano de Bergerac story. His co-star - Darryl Hannah, of Splash fame.

Oops

Top R- What kind of woman would marry Rambo? Brigitte Nielsen. It didn't last, though - they divorced in '87. R- A picture is worth a thousand candidacies. Gary and Donna sitting in a tree . . . Above- Michael Jackson suddenly reappeared on the music scene with a new nose, a new chin, and a new album, "Bad". The album didn't do as well as he hoped, but he does at least look like Diana Ross now, as he wished.

EUSOPH—THE

RECTOR—HARRIS

Top L- Jackie Gleason, one of the true kings of comedy. His characters, such as bus driver Ralph Kramden, Reginald Van Gleason, and the Poor Soul will live on in the annals of entertainment history. Above- from top, Lee Marvin, Hollywood "tough guy"; Andres Segovia, classical guitarist; Robert Preston, star of "The Music Man"; Andy Warhol, pop artist; Tom Mix, the first great screen cowboy; Harold Washington, mayor of Chicago. R- Rudolph Hess, Nazi war criminal; Danny Kaye, actor and humanitarian; John Huston, movie director; Liberace, pianist, yet another victim of AIDS.

DBURY R.H.S.

SEPT-JUNE
1988

Going to work. It's something that no one likes very much. It's a day-after-day thing that takes a great love of what you're doing to achieve. Now, think of the faculty at L-S. They don't live here. They work here. Their job is to help us learn. Quite noble, eh? Going to work for them involves getting up even earlier than we do. Just ask Mr. Reinstein. I like to think that our teachers here at L-S could beat the pants off any other school's teachers with one hand tied behind their backs. I could be wrong, though . . .

Going to see a teacher at L-S is very easy. Just hang around their office until they return, and put out a can of cola as bait. Then trap them. Actually, the teachers at L-S are very accessible to students, one of the school's major strengths. Many diverse types work here. Hopefully you know a few. If you haven't bothered to get to know some of your teachers by the time you leave L-S, you've blown a big chance. Go ahead. Meet those teachers. Here, for your reference, is a pictorial directory.

STUDENT LIFE

Eli Manjarrez (89) and Daniel Lovering (88) tuning up for the jazz quintet.
Cecily Morgan (88) taking advantage of the lessons offered at Lincoln-Sudbury.

Music is one of the predominant arts at L-S, composed of many students who are anxious to express themselves through its power and beauty. From the heavenly hymn humming of the gospel choir to the eloquent fury of jazz fusion, many aspects of musical freedom are expressed. At any moment of the day, one may expect to find at least one soul practicing in the music room with all his/her concentration and energy. Many students have enjoyed lending an ear to the hard riffs of a thrash band or to the endless devotion of a solitary inhabitant of the auditorium. Students have been motivated to participate in independent projects as well as in school sponsored groups. In the past, ambitious musicians have performed at Springthing, the Teen Center, and in many cluttered garages and cellars throughout the area. Most musicians harbor secret desires of going places later in life upon the surging wave created by their music. Certain students have received the honor of being selected to play with the best high school musicians in the state. These groups include GYBSO, MYWE, and the District and All-State bands. One particular individual's dedication and ability earned Tasha Farney the honor of performing with the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Armed only with worn guitars and tarnished flutes, these students will hit the road with aspirations of musical prosperity and never-ending harmony.

On January 15, 1988, Lincoln-Sudbury Regional High School, in conjunction with the school's Martin Luther King Action Project, presented the first annual MLK Award to Kip Tiernan, the founder of Rosie's Place, Boston's shelter for homeless women. The presentation was made at the school's annual Martin Luther King assembly.

The MLK Action Project was started two years ago by several teachers and a community resident. The purpose of the Project was—and remains—finding ways to commemorate the life of Dr. Martin Luther King through concrete deeds and, thereby, helping to realize his enduring dream of a better, more just America. Our philosophy can be summed up by this line from Shakespeare: "Action is eloquence." Project participants initiated and supported the idea for an award for several reasons. First we thought it was important to acknowledge the efforts of others to fulfill Dr. King's dream, particularly those people who have made a life-long commitment to ideals and social vision of the slain civil rights leader. Also, we felt the award presentation would give us an opportunity to bring out to the school an alternative role model. In a decade when selfishness and self-concern have become dominant "values," we wanted the school to meet someone whose life has been preoccupied with things one hears little about these days: justice and concern for others.

Perhaps years from now, on flipping through this book, alumni will come to this page. It may be that the power of Kip's life will cause them to reflect on the purposes of their own. "I have a dream that one day"

—Bill Schechter

Bill Burroughs '88— As Bill spoke, I was taken back into 1963. He became Dr. King, I became part of the crowd at Washington. I felt the power of his words, the excitement of the crowd around me. I believed in his dream.

In April 1987 the Martin Luther King, Jr. Action Project was launched at L-S. It is a way to celebrate Dr. King's life throughout the year in a more meaningful way than a one day holiday. This is an outreach action effort through which students and adults have the opportunity to volunteer in shelters, soup kitchens, food banks, home repairs, women's facilities, and in offices of organizations concerned with minority and world peace issues. There have been two alternative vacations— students' vacation days spent giving to others in Boston and Vermont.

In a year's time growing participation in what has come to be known as MLK, reached approximately 100, including staff members. MLK members made a contribution of over 1200 hours to the cause of social service and justice.

The efforts of those working towards "fulfilling the dream" are appreciated.

MLK - "Keepin The Dream Alive."

These quotes were taken from the MLK Newsletter about what the members have learned about themselves and others through the project . . .

"I have learned that I can make a difference is the usual damn cliché, but along with this I have seen the scope of the problem and realized that it will not be solved overnight. It is awareness and knowledge that I have benefited."

"I've learned that you can only get things done through cooperation. You can't do everything on your own. Also, I've realized how lucky I am. I've learned not to take things for granted."

" . . . that I'm really a hypocrite, that there's an awful lot I need to learn . . ."

"Superficiality in other people is often ignorance, poverty is often a chronic disease."

"Many of my stereotypes have been broken. I expected poor people to have no hope or to be crazy. But many are victims of their environment. Many have a good education. Many are full of faith as well."

"I used to have misconceptions about homeless people. I thought they were coarse and bitter. Now I know better."

TAKING A FOREIGN PATH

Language clubs are on the move at L-S. The German Club sponsored a trip to Germany last spring, and the students with whom our kids stayed there were here this fall. The French Club zoomed off to le cinema and to Les Miserables. At Christmastime an International Festival with food and music and customs from many different nations was sponsored by Spanish Club as well as the other language clubs.

The Computer User's Society, or more affectionately called The Computer Club, provides access, education, maintenance and expansion of the quality and quantity of computer equipment. We consider ourselves a interesting, independent, and unique social group. We occasionally have guest speakers and field trips, but what we like to do the most is sit around, have a good time, and talk about computers.

Model U.N.

Part club, part class, (members receive one credit for the fall semester) Model U.N. was started about fifteen years ago by David Clapp. His main goals are to help students develop public speaking skills and parliamentary debating skills and to increase their awareness of current international issues. At its once-a-week meetings, students prepared to participate in a four-day, college-sponsored Model U.N. conference held in Boston during December of 1987. This conference simulated the structure and debate of the United Nations with each school representing one or more nations. This year's members represented Sweden and the Central African Republic. All went well, and it is expected that L-S will be well-represented again at next year's conference.

The Members of Model UN: Dierdre Bannon (88). Hilary Cline (89), Kara Frigon (88), Melanie MacLeod (88), Andrew McMorrow (88), Ethan Mutschler (88), Jyothi Nambiar (88), Fred Nemeth (88), Amy Price (88), Rita Raju (88), Nicole Rice (88), Aaron Stern (88), and Richard Weiner (88).

Amnesty International . . .

The dedicated members of Amnesty International spend their Wednesday afternoons discussing issues related to political freedom and writing letters directed towards freeing political prisoners all over the world. Letters are written to political prisoners themselves so as to maintain morale and to tell them that they are not forgotten. Club members also raise money to fund efforts to free the incarcerated. Their vigil helps prevent torture and maintain freedom all over the world.

During the past years, the Student Senate has worked to open the lines of communication between the Senate, the students, the faculty and the administration. Under the advising of Mrs. Malcom, the 1987-1988 Student Senate has contributed to a variety of activities. During this busy year the Student Senate collected signatures for the World Hunger Manifesto, and money to commemorate the 40th anniversary of UNICEF. The Student Senate has also been active in the search for the new superintendent and became more involved in determining school policies (e.g. the behavior code, punishments, etc.). The Student Senate saw a year of successes and improvements thanks to it's officers: Andy Surwilo (president), Chris Mullen (vice-president), Amy Price (treasurer), and Julie Anderson (secretary), and a membership which totals over 50.

DYAD is . . .
Figuring out what a cropper is
Being ruled by picas
Living in fear of trapped white space
Avoiding the gutter
Trying to win the war against the omni-present deadline
Responsibility for raising $36,000-fast
Fixing two page 231's and no page 299
Filling 320 pages with very little time, patience, money, . . .
Organizing chaos
Finding triangles from the depths of a pig pen
Staying after school every day until it is dark
Doing lots of work while trying to have fun
Putting other things off and aside for the yearbook.

But most important, DYAD is a lot of fun and an unforgettable experience. Thanks, Les, for everything!

ATHLETIC

Sports! Going out for sports. It involves pain. Much pain. Except for golf, which is more genteel, but makes up for it in absolute frustration. L-S is a big-time sporting school. About half of the students participate in some sport. That's great. L-S teams do really well, too. That's great also. Everyone tries, and almost everyone gets a chance, which is the most important thing. From the varsity level all the way down to the frosh teams, everyone has their chance. All the more reason to go out for a sport that interests you.

Sports involves practice. Going to practice every single day is something you quickly get very tired of. But it is necessary to become skilled. And, from the records of some of L-S's recent teams, quite a few people stayed for practice. You have to see practice as a kind of release. Release for the tensions of the day, release of pressure, release of frustration, release of energy. It makes that sofa waiting for you at home seem all the softer, too. Water never tastes better than after a hard practice or game. It all pays off, though, when you score the big goal or catch the big pass or get a high score or break a state record. Then you look back on all the hard work, all the long hours, all the pain, and think, it was all worth it.

And you know, even if you don't win, it's worth it!

After a successful season last year, the Varsity Girls' Volleyball team was determined to have an even better season this year. Coach Donna Crocker worked the team hard in practice and as a result of this hard work and dedication, the team finished the regular season with a 16-2 record. The team earned a lot of respect and praise for its consistent play, and the Warriors' only losses were two close games against Milford and Westwood. The 1987 team consisted of many veteran players and because of their experience, the team was able to concentrate on perfecting skills and developing new strategies. Led by captains Jackie Cefola, Melanie MacLeod, and Liz Giometti, the team qualified for the state tournament and advanced to the semifinals before falling to Milford in an exciting match.

The JV Girls' Volleyball program received a great boost this year with the addition of a new coach, Martha Cornell. Because of Cornell, the jayvees no longer had to share a coach with the varsity and were able to excel on their own. The team had a good blend of new players and returning players, and teamwork and experience were two factors which helped contribute to their 12-6 record. This year's team is destined to bring its skills and intensity up to the varsity and has the potential to lead them to another successful season and a possible state championship.

FIRST DOWN

The 1987 Varsity Football team ended the season with a record with a record of 6-4. Despite the fact that many viewed this a lack luster year, the graduating class has enjoyed a three year record of 29-4-0, a record that few team in the nation can match. Wins over Hudson, Acton Boxboro and Wayland kept L-S in the D.C.L. race until Bedford ended the team's 25 game winning streak and Boston Latin ended the teams hopes for the Super Bowl. All of the team's losses, except for the upset loss at Newton South, were against quality teams with one or fewer losses. The team was led by captains Craig Berkel, Jeff Venter, Chris Atwood, and Rob DeFranco.

The 1987 Boys' Varsity Soccer team had a very successful season under Coach Peter Fischelis. Led by Tri-captains Tony Rossini, Mike Murdock, and Brian Schirf, the team finished the season with a 14-4-3 record. After qualifying for the state tournament, the teams' intensity seemed to pick up. The Warriors strengthened their defense and concentrated on maintaining quality play for the post-season games. They triumphed over arch-rival Acton-Boxboro in the first round and number one ranked Medford in the second round. Unfortunately, they were defeated in the semifinals in a 2-1 game to St. John's Prep of Danvers. Next year's team will have to pick up the pieces as the Warriors will graduate nine of eleven starters.

Their Future Is Now

The Junior Varsity Boys' Soccer team ended another successful season this year, posting a winning record of 9-4-2. Led by Coach Scott Burke and Co-captains Tim Nikula and Kevin Bohne, the team jumped out to a 3-0 start, including an important win over Concord-Carlisle. A strong Dual County League spelled trouble for the booters as the season progressed, leaving them in third place behind Acton-Boxboro and Weston.

The 1987 Freshman Boys' Soccer team finished the season with a record of 4-7-2. Despite their record, their quality of play improved over the course of the season. The season started off on a downward note with three consecutive losses to Concord-Carlisle, Acton-Boxboro, and Wayland. However, due to the exceptional play of goalies Mike Abrams and Bill Hogan, the team turned its luck around and defeated Concord, Wayland, and Newton South. Although the team did not have a winning record, it is looking forward to continuing the tradition of excellence in the Boys' Soccer Program at Lincoln-Sudbury.

Girls And Goals

The 1987 Girls' Varsity Soccer team, coached by Norm Swicker, kicked off the season with a loss to rival Concord-Carlisle, which was the beginning of a season of heartaches and tough breaks for the Lincoln-Sudbury Warriors. The defense often dominated its opponents, but the offense often had trouble, suffering from an unfortunate scoring drought. The team continually tied the opposition throughout the first half of the season. However, led by captain Stacy Mahoney, they managed to pull through the second half of the season with enough wins to qualify for the state tournament. In the first round, the team went head to head against a bigger and more aggressive Wakefield Club and suffered a disappointing 3-0 loss. Despite the team's 8-5-6 record, the L-S girls played hard, worked hard, and never stopped trying.

Fields Of Fire

The Junior Varsity Girls' Soccer team finished the season with a record of 13-1-2, despite tough competition in the Dual County League. The team put up impressive numbers, with the offense scoring an average of five goals per game while only three goals per game were scored against the defense. Coach Steve Roderick meshed the talent of twenty new players with the seasoned veterans to create a team with heart, patience, and dedication. With many of its talented players hoping for a spot on next year's varsity team, the Warrior jayvees are already looking forward to the future and are hoping for another impressive season. In the words of Coach Roderick, "Look out for us next year, 'cause we are going to be tough!"

Score One For 91

The Freshman Girls' Soccer team had a successful year under Coach Dale Edmands and finished the season with a winning record. With a balanced attack, the team played well offensively, scoring many clutch goals. The defense also contributed greatly to the team's wins as it came up with many gutsy performances. Teamwork, dedication, and talent were the important factors which helped the freshman warriors make their first, learning season a successful one.

The 1987 Varsity Golf Team, led by Senior Paul Hogan, and Juniors Brendan Dolan and Jon Batchelder, had an up and down year. The Girls' Varsity Swimming team plunged into the season with optimism and dedication. Led by Coaches Shelia Stewart and Ned Banta, the team ended the season with an 8-3-0 record. This year's team maintained a tradition by placing third in the DCL conference for the third year. One of the most exciting meets of the year was against rival Wayland. Lincoln-Sudbury crept early, but after relentless pressure in this heated battle, Wayland overcame L-S' early lead and ultimately won 94-78. Despite this frustrating loss, the Warriors maintained their enthusiasm and confidence for the remainder of the season. The competition was tough, but so were the Warriors who managed to pull through with a winning record.

Running Up That Hill

The Varsity Cross Country team had a much improved season this year. The girls, led by Diana Bowser, posted a 6-1 record. Bowser, only a freshman, was undefeated in regular season league races. Also enjoying fine seasons for L-S were co-captains Tanya Steinberg and Celestine Klein. A tough All-League meet led to a second place finish for the team, with Bowser, Steinberg, and Klein all finishing in the top ten overall. The meet was incredibly close - only one point separated the team from first place. With a strong group of girls returning, including Bowser, next year should be different.

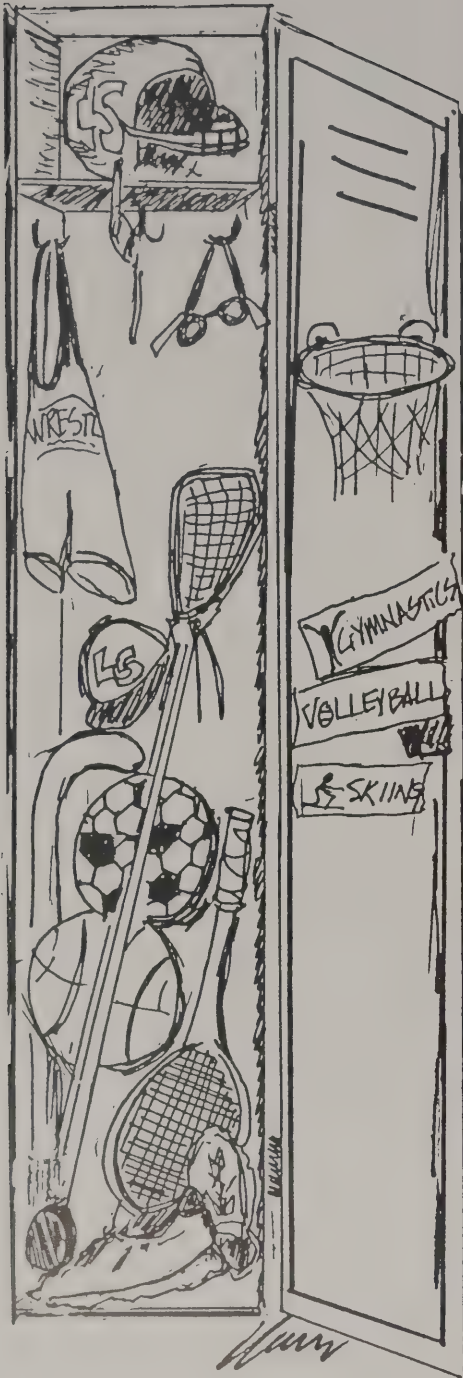

The boys had one of their better seasons in recent history. Coach Pat McMahon had them running hard in practice, and they responded with a 5-2 record. Co-captains Andy Reising and Paul Piazza had seasons to remember, as did Dan Wilson. Juniors James Andrews and Tad Horne look to pace the team next year. Seniors Derek Kalchbrenner and Greg May provided valuable depth to the team. A disappointing finish at the All-League ended the year, but a strong team is in the cards for next year.

Stick To It

The 1987 Varsity Girls' Field Hockey team finished the regular season with a record of 11-4-1 and qualified for post season play. The team overcame a disappointing beginning by winning eight of its last ten games. During the season, the Warrior defense was tough, holding its opponents to only ten goals and giving goalie Nicole Halverson a goals-against average of 6.2 goals per game. Unfortunately, the season ended in the first round of the state tournament despite the fact that it was the team's best played game of the season. Next year's team will miss the talent, leadership, and enthusiasm of the graduating seniors, but it will work hard for another shot at the DCL title.

The 1987-1988 Varsity Boys' Basketball team won 16 straight games before losing a heartbreaker to Acton-Boxboro. The team, led by Coach George Horton showed that they were true champions, in fact, Dual County League Champions. The Offense was led by Bobby McClain and Chris Bryant whose performances delighted crowds around the league. Both of their skills were complimented by the great play of Billy McClain, and Tommie Campbell who came on strong toward the end of the season. One of the great surprises this year was the play of Tony Rossini. After a slump junior year, Rossini showed his true colors by showing great composure in pressure situations. Arthur Fitzhugh and Bill Burroughs toggled at the forward position all year with both showing that they were forces to be reckoned with.

Coming off a 5-13 season last year, the Varsity Girls' Basketball team completed their 1987-1988 season with an overall record of 13-7 and a berth in the state tournament. From the start of the season, the L-S players knew they were capable of being a dominant force in the D.C.L.

Coach Silverman credited the team's success to the unity displayed on as well as off the court. Captain Martha Wofford provided the leadership which was instrumental during the season. The bench also contributed with their constant encouragement and support. Even though half the team will be lost to graduation, Coach Silverman is looking forward to next season as there will be new up and coming talent.

JV Girls' Bball

The Lincoln-Sudbury Varsity Boys' gymnastics team finished the season with a record of 6-3. They were led by senior captains Andy Surwilo and Greg Luconi. Surwilo and Luconi will be representing Massachusetts in the National competition taking place in Texas. Throughout the season, the team steadily improved as their points totals indicate. Very instrumental in the teams' ever increasing level of performance were the routines of John Pape, Ole Craig, and Bruce Rankin.

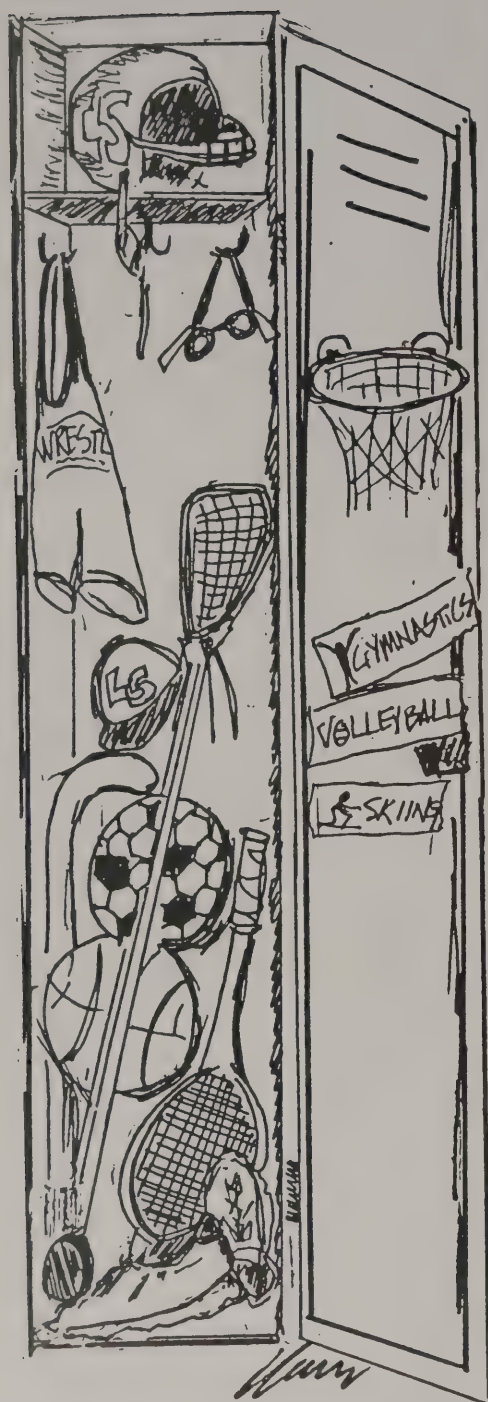

Twirling To Victory

Top-Andy Surwillo (88) shows why he's one of the best in the country. The One Meet Season!

The Boys' Varsity Indoor Track team had, this year, a rather troubled season. Plagued by injuries and just plain bad luck, they still managed to place second in the DCL, with their only loss coming to arch-rival Wayland. The team started out by losing two of its top sprinters for the season. Team captains Bill Sussman and Dave Ryan both had injury-plagued seasons. Sussman, a top shot putter, had ankle troubles, while Ryan pulled a hamstring muscle very early in the season, reducing his effectiveness. Only Chris Mawn, a hurdler, escaped injury among the captains. Strong performances throughout the year were given by Mike Wilsack, Brian Hannan, Jermaine Dennis, John Neuhauser, James Andrews, Carlos Licona, and exchange students Thomas Maus and Alfonso Alvarez. Seniors Dan Wilson, Russ Croel, Tom Fowler, and Alex Underwood provided some depth to the team, but not enough to overcome Wayland. A disappointing fifth place finish at the All-League Meet capped off the year. Next year, however, promises to be interesting for the team whose season always seems to come down to one meet.

Ready Set Go!

The Varsity girls' track team joined the ranks of Dual County League champions with an undefeated league and over-all record. Many claimed that this was the most successful year the team had ever had, as many records were broken. Senior Celestine Klein cruised through the two mile and Suzie Zilvitis broke the school and DCL records in the mile, while senior Tanya Steinberg added depth to the distance team.

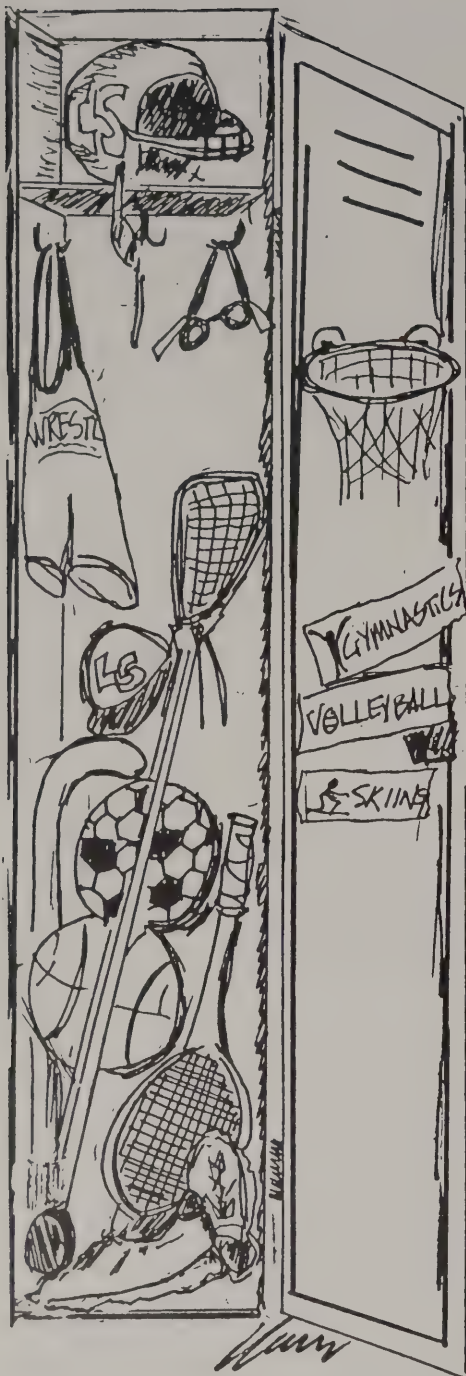

Junior, Kimani Paul-Emile was strong in the 300, also breaking the school record, while senior co-captain Chantal Casey, excelled in both the hurdles and the high jump. The dash team, including senior Karen Arpino, Junior Kim Cetrone, and newcomer Laurell Pippen, was outstanding this year, as was freshman hurdler Heather Lind. Once again, powerhouse captains Stephanie Lind and Rita Raju led the way in the 600 at the league and state levels. Although the "Fab Four" (Stephanie Lind, Karen Arpino, Rita Raju, and Chantal Casey) will graduate this year, the future looks bright, as a great deal of young talent revealed itself during the season.

Eilene Murphy, who built the team into a state power, will be stepping down after this season from her coaching position. She will be greatly missed by all.

Top L- Susie Zilvitis (88) stays in the front runner's draft as she takes advantage of the moving air. Above- Would you mess with these girls? Back Row Debbie Cooper (89), Karin Johansson (88), Amy Bell (89), Kimani Paul Emile (89), Allison Bially (90), Daverne Harry Paul (89). Third row- Eileen Murphy, Kim Donovan (89), Kim Cetrone (89), Karen Arpino (88), Becky Cooper (91), Heather Lind (91), Laurell Pippen (91), Erica Pier-son (91), Jessica Allen (90), Tanya Steinberg (88), Celestine Klein (88), Emily Fisher (88). Second row- Christine McLean (91), Chrissy Crittendon (90), Beth Kramer (89), Chantal Casey (88), Stephanie Lind (88), Rita Raju (88), Amanda Phillips (91), Erin McElligott (91), Noel Barbour (89).

Hittin' The Slopes

Full Of Cheer For Hockey This Year

DOMINANT And Proud Of It

The Boy's Swim team again showed their dominance in the Dual County League by posting an undefeated record. Standouts were Captains Scott Davis and Kevin Smith and Andy McMorrow. Davis was a consistent winner in the 100 butterfly and breast-stroke while McMorrow dominated the 200 and 500 freestyles. The season was plagued with snow cancellations, but that never knocked the team off stride.

Thank You & Goodbye

"Someday, when we both reminisce,
We'll both say, there wasn't too much we missed.
And through the tears, the smile we recall.
We had it ALL . . . for just a moment . . ."
SEE YOU IN FIVE?!! Ls and Ks!!

Mom & Dad
"Now I understand,
What you tried to say to me,
And how you suffered for your sanity,
And how you tried to set me free . . .
I would not listen, I did not know how,
Perhaps I'll listen now . . ."

Nanny, Les, Emma-Lou, Snort, Say Bird, Bun, Nick, Cay-Wee, Harlotte

If you wanna leave, take good care, hope you make a lot of nice friends out there, but just remember there's a lot of bad and beware. Angels? That is the question, but we were. We come from Sudbury and Lincoln, and we've been taken by Andover and given to by Dana Hall. We have definitely made some mistakes: Keith, Dave A., Andy, and Todd who? Oh yeah- Flamer! Emma's ral! Busted! Canned peaches, no more Matilda Bay- "Don't you care about your futures?" Busted at 55 Maynard Farm-the Moose is Loose! Fanueil Hall-leaving CD & EK TOTALLY helpless at the station! And we have some sentimental moments-Calls at 2 a.m. when times were tough. "Don't Give Up". Crying in Vermont. Rent talks and tears. Wiping out in the snow behind PVM. The changing summer of Peter Gabriel- "Mr. Gabriel to you!" College stress-stop talking about it! We have also done some strange things in strange places— a mulch pile, closet, waterbed, backseat of a Grenada, Drive-in, Dads bed, Pierce Park, Mike's pick-up, and DJ's Blazer. My friends are little lamps to me, their radiance warms and cheers my ways. And all my pathway dark and lone is brightened by their rays. I try to keep them bright by faith, and never let them dim with doubt, For every time I lose a friend a little lamp goes out. -Elizabeth Whittemore

Missy,

These past 2 high school years have been the best with you. Thanks for being there for me whenever I needed you. You are the best friend I have and you mean a great deal to me.

"I served the cake, you poured the tea; we built a house beneath the tree. In grown-up clothes we played the parts; secrets told, we crossed our hearts. Years went by, through smiles and tears; first true loves, and football cheers. I'll never find a friend so true, I'll love you, sister, all life through."

J-Mar

YOU'VE COME A LONG WAY, BABY!! CONGRATULATIONS STACEY

LOVE . . . MOM, DAD, LISA
AND DAVID

I have learned lessons of life, love, and friendship during my 4 yrs., at LS. SR-remember the good times. MB-good luck, & congrats! KL-thanks for the support. SB-maybe someday I'll catch up to you in NYC, I luv ya! C&K, Cambridge wknd. RJ- I miss ya, freshman yr. "off we go" now its really happening, Good luck, I luv ya! ND & RD-Donelans memories, I'll miss you 2! CK-friends you think are the closest, in reality, can be the furthest away. 5 houses down the rd. DM, Boston, every bus and train in the US. AI-even though we couldn't spend as much time together as we wanted, staying out till 3 am was fun-Almont Park-MG, Boston, many laughs, I luv ya, keep in touch. Mike G-even though we weren't very close during highschool, I've always thought of our friendship as something very special-7th grade memories-the best. To the 2 people I promised would always have a special place in my heart, that promise still holds true-always remember the good times. BO, JO, FK, HH-I miss you guys tearing up my lawn, just kidding I love you guys! Don't ever change! AF-take care of that foot! Mrs. Barry thanks for everything! CM-where do I start? How can I fit 12 years of friendship on a couple of lines in a yearbook?! Brownies, moving, the brook, first loves, biology exam, "the DR. said" 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 11th, and 12th grade! Soooooo much! I luv ya. Good luck in CA. RR-no more skipping classes-just kidding. Scheming, Friday and Saturday nights, well, I just blew our cover-it was a joke Mrs. R-just a joke! Rory, in all seriousness I wish you happiness, you deserve it, I luv ya! JM-"probably!" Stanley-you helped me grow up, and never let me fall it's because of you, that I kept going! No matter how bad things got, you were always there-thank you-I love you!!!!!! I'll be there-Jackson 5-always! Mr. & Mrs. McConnell-I love you both! DM-keep smiling! Mom, Dad, Nana, and Uncle Ed, together you have shaped my life and made me the person I am today. You have all helped me to grow & mature, & made my life happy. Thank you, I love you all.

Frog says thanx:

Pammy, never let things get you down! Always remember B-days (at Mel's), Shasty, Toadie the frog and Crappy the perch & talks in the ref. room.

Karen Babe, carrot sticks and rice cakes, my favorite sweater, driving (the brown box), but what do these have in common? I know what yer sayin (in accent)!

Mel, could it be seven years already? V-Ball camp (forget Chris), Science— why do you sit in the front?

Wall, what can I say? First off, recall cake flies, skiing trips, the foot shake, civic— waltz of the gnats, chinese food, V-Ball, and late night phone calls. Now laugh a bit— maybe snicker. Just cause we don't have the same taste in clothes, music, hair, guys, religion or art doesn't mean we aren't soul sisters.

M&D, Thaks for putting up with me! B, K, M, you guys are wild! Good luck at Hs (Brian, I know you'll have fun— hee! hee! hee!). K&M, scream all you want, the house is yours!

Just a few notes: Yea! Yea! SAA! The church lady lives (LM). Green is the color of nature but frogs are the nature of some college essays. SLUG! Never dress your cat in an apron when he's learning to bake.

Lots of Love, Frog

In memory of Gregory C. McDonald
May you always walk in
Sunshine and God's love around
You flow; for the happiness
You gave us; no one will ever know.
It broke our hearts to lose you;
But you did not go alone;
A part of us went with you,
The day God called you home.
A million times we've needed you.
A million times we've cried.
If love could only have saved you,
You never would have died.

This park and these houses
old streets I have walked everything dear
will it be here
one day when I am
returning

My friends will get married
have children and homes
It sounds so nice
well-planned and wise
never expecting surprises

I wonder
it's frightening
leaving now
is that the right thing
I wonder
it scares me

but who the hell am I
if I don't even try
I'm not a coward
Oh no, I'll be strong
one chance in a lifetime
Yes, I will take it
It can't go wrong

My friends and my family
this dull little town
buses I've missed
boys that I've kissed everything old and familiar

I wonder . . .

Congratulations Kris,

We have so many happy memories of you, but now it's on to four years of college days and your future dreams, and you have so many! May they all come true! Knowing you, you'll make them all happen.

We are very proud of you!
Love,

Mom, Dad & Heidi
